SAW MISSING SCHOOLGIRL IN ROW WITH STRANGE MEN AT STATION NEAR HER HOME

Railway Men Say Florence
Lawlor Was Six Blocks
From Own House.

STARTED FOR HER HOME.

Strangers Argued With Girl
Who Pushed Them Aside and Boarded Train.

Florence Barbara Lawlor, the high school girl who has been missing from her home, No. 5615 Fifteenth avenue, Borough Park, since 8 o'clock Monday morning, alighted from a West End elevated train at the Bay Junction station at Sixty-second street and New Utrecht avenue, at 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning, talked for three-quarters of an hour with two men who met her there and then boarding another train, resumed her journey in the direction of Park Row, according to two men who watched the girl throughout the time she was on the station.

The witnesses are the tower man and the transfer agent of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, and they told George H. Lawlor, the girl's father, to-day that they could not be mistaken in their identification.

The men described the clothing the girl wore and her appearance and their recitals agreed absolutely with the appearance and clothing of the girl on the morning she left her home. A distinctive feature of her attire was a dark blue sport coat fastened with vivid red buttons. These alone should be sufficient to make her conspicuous anywhere and they helped in convincing the railroad men that it was Miss Lawlor whom they watched.

PHONE MESSAGE SAID GIRL WAS AT CONEY ISLAND.

It is a coincidence that at 3 o'clock this morning a man who did not give his name called the Lawlor home on the telephone and told Mr. Lawlor that he had seen the missing girl only a few minutes before near the Mardi Gras Hotel in Surf avenue, Coney Island. Though he had only just come in from an all night search Mr. Lawlor started at once for Coney Island. But he found no trace of his daughter or of the man who had telephoned.

At the time Mr. Lawlor regarded the telephone message as the hoax of a prankster.

LIE PASSED IN CONGRESS.

Burnett and Mahan Stir House
With a Hot Wrangle.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The House was thrown into confusion this afternoon when the lie was passed during the consideration of the Burnett immigration bill by Representative Burnett to Representative Mahan of Minnesota. Mahan accused Burnett of cowardice because the Alabama member insisted upon hurrying debate on the bill. Burnett retorted with the denunciation of Mahan's statement as a "lie."

In the turmoil that followed a score of members were on their feet shouting for recognition at the same time. Apologies were made by both principals and order was restored.

England Needs Davis Challenge.
LONDON, Feb. 4.—Great Britain's challenge for the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy, won last year by the United States team, was sent by mail to the United States to-day.

Asphyxiated in Her Little Room.
Mary O'Shaughnessy, a spinster of forty-five, who supported herself by sewing, was found dead from gas in the little room she occupied on the top floor of No. 235 Bleeker street early to-day when neighbors who smelled gas traced it to her room and broke in the door. A gas leak had become disconnected from a stove, and the fumes had asphyxiated the woman while she slept.

PRESIDENT M. H. COLE, WHO BECOMES BRIDE OF ALBERT STODDARD.

MRS. A. H. STODDARD.

HE LIKED HIS "BOSS" IN OFFICE SO MUCH HE MADE HER HIS WIFE

Albert H. Stoddard Is Quietly
Married to Miss Mabel
Henrietta Cole.

Albert Henry Stoddard, Vice-President of the M. H. Cole Real Estate Company of No. 500 Fifth avenue, was at his desk this morning trying to get through an accumulation of papers. The desk of President Mabel Henrietta Cole was locked, however.

Miss Cole that was, Mrs. Albert Henry Stoddard that is, was at the Hotel Biltmore getting ready to go on a honeymoon trip with her vice-president. Mr. Stoddard, a handsome man of about fifty, admitted a little diffidently that he and the president of the company had gone to Jersey City last night and been married quietly in the presence of a few friends.

Employees in the office didn't know anything about it and didn't even know that a romance was developing right under their noses. They knew that Mr. Stoddard was a distant cousin of Miss Cole and had been of great assistance to her in running her big business since he went with the company a year ago.

Miss Cole, who came here three or four years ago from Montreal, organized the company after she had tried Wall street speculation and decided that she didn't like it. From the first she had been successful, but the work was so confining that it affected her health and she called in Mr. Stoddard.

Five months ago she had pneumonia and then a nervous breakdown. She is still in poor health and the honeymoon trip will probably be short in consequence.

Mr. Stoddard came into prominence when he acted as pageant manager of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. He had gained experience in such work at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

$50,000 CASH BAIL WINS FREEDOM FOR MILLIONAIRE SUITOR

Rich Brazilian Says He Isn't Worried About Breach of Promise Suit.

NOT SENT TO JAIL.

Spent Night in Hotel, Under Guard—Miss Borden Shows
His Love Letters.

Octavio Guinle, a young man of a wealthy Brazilian family, sued by a beautiful American girl for $500,000 for breach of promise, sent his lawyer to Sheriff Griffenhagen at 2 o'clock to-day with $50,000 in cash to secure his freedom pending the trial of her action.

Paul R. Gordon, Guinle's lawyer, carried the money in a plain satchel and counted it out before the admiring employees of the Sheriff's office. A thousand and hundred-dollar bills, Sheriff Griffenhagen said it was the largest deposit of cash bail of which he had ever heard. Mr. Gordon explained that the cash had been obtained from a bank here on a telegraphic order from Guinle & Co. of Rio de Janeiro, of which Octavio is the New York agent. They are bankers, exporters, importers and railway financiers.

The rich Brazilian was spared the humiliation of being locked in the Ludlow street jail last night. He slept at the Hotel Knickerbocker, and Deputy Sheriffs McDonnell and Zeitner kept guard over him.

Mr. Guinle called up Sheriff Griffenhagen at 1 o'clock to say that he wanted his guards changed. McDonnell and Zeitner, who has long been known on Park Row as "Wireless Louie" because of his resources for hearing of news events on the east side, did not impress Mr. Guinle, he said, as his social equals. They were surly and unbecoming, he complained, and would not take him out for a drink.

Sheriff Griffenhagen's only answer was to inform the millionaire that if his $50,000 cash bond was not deposited by 2 o'clock the deputies would put him in Ludlow Street jail, where he could not get a drink whether he wanted one or not.

At his office at No. 42 Broadway to-day Mr. Guinle said to an Evening World reporter:

"Do I look like a man who is worrying? I have nothing more to say than that this action does not bother me in the least. I slept very well last night, if anybody cares to know."

Utherhart & Graham, lawyers for Miss Borden, said they had been instructed to press the case with the utmost diligence. Miss Borden had herself deposited the $50,000 in cash which was necessary before Guinle could be held for her in $50,000 bail.

SAYS THEY WERE TO HAVE BEEN MARRIED YESTERDAY.

According to her complaint, the marriage was to have been solemnized yesterday by Father Sheridan at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, where the nuptials have been read for three Sundays. Her troupe, which was elaborate, has cost her much time and money, she says.

Guinle met Miss Borden last May and told her he had inherited $5,000,000 from his father and another million from his father's partner.

Miss Borden said she had not accepted him when she sailed for Europe last July, and she exhibited this letter to show how fiercely his passion burned then:

My Darling—and Sweet Mona: I am crazy. I do not know what to do without you. I have been crying since you left me alone without a soul to console me. You are the only woman I ever loved in my life. I am willing to do anything for you. Come to me and I am sure I will make you happy. Darling, you are my love, my soul, my life. I adore you, darling.

O. GUINLE.

They became engaged, Miss Borden

DEMOCRATS KNOCK VOTES FOR WOMEN OUT OF CONGRESS

Party Put on Record by Underwood, Who Says Equal Suffrage Is Not National Issue.

STRICTLY FOR STATES.

Organization Firmly Committed to Policy of Local Self-Government.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Democratic party was formally placed on record to-day as opposed to national legislation conferring the right of suffrage on women by Majority Leader Underwood on the floor of the House.

Representative Underwood declared he believed, with the party, that the suffrage question was for the States, and not the national Government, to determine.

Representative Lenroot injected the question into the House debate by asking Mr. Underwood if he would use his influence to have reported a resolution for a suffrage committee, an action which the Democratic caucus had refused to take.

"Will the gentleman use his influence to have that resolution reported so that the House may vote on it?" demanded Mr. Lenroot.

"I will not," replied Mr. Underwood, "because I am not in favor of it. If there is one principle my party stands for it is local self-government. If there is one single question that the Democratic party is committed to it is that the franchise should be controlled by the individual States."

SLAPPED BY ADELE RITCHIE.

Process Server Got Surprise of His Life When He Met Up With Her.

Max Artz, a process server, got the surprise of his life this afternoon when, in attempting to serve Adele Ritchie, the vaudeville actress, with a summons, he received in return a swift slap in the face. The actress just emerged from the City Court Building in City Hall, after being examined in supplementary proceedings, when Artz, armed with the summons in a court action brought by Edward O. Ginsburg to recover $200 for merchandise, walked up to her.

"Mrs. Bell," he began, "here is a summons for you." The actress lost no time, but turned on her heel and a second later her gloved hand was planted against Artz's cheek.

The crowd walking through the park stopped to take a look, but before Artz fully recovered from the shock Miss Ritchie and her attorney had disappeared in the direction of the subway.

FRIEDMAN AGAIN ACCUSED.

Ex-Assemblyman Rearrested Just as He Gets Out on Bail.

Ex-Assemblyman Harold J. Friedman, who lives now at No. 779 Avenue C, Bayonne, N. J., was arrested this afternoon as he left the County Court in Brooklyn, where he had been released in $1,000 bail in a case involving the passing of a worthless check. Detectives Clare and Eftus served on him a warrant issued last December on complaint of Irving Michaels of the Irving Michaels Jewelry Company, of No. 45 Nassau Street, from whom Friedman bought a diamond pin worth $418 Dec. 27 and gave a check on the Corn Exchange Bank, which, according to Mr. Michaels, came back marked no funds.

Friedman's father was with him and gave another $1,000 bail when Michaels Nolan in the Centre Street Court held him for examination Friday. The elder Friedman declared that his son was out of his mind.

The men escaped, but the town was aroused and, headed by Sheriff Walker and Curtis A. Davies, a State policeman, a posse went to their home in the forest. They arrived after midnight and were greeted with a hail of bullets. The posse retreated to Waynesboro and started out again at daylight. The outlaws meanwhile had gone into hiding.

Approaching the Barnes home the man hunters saw Rose Barnes, sister of the boys, driving a buggy in the direction of the hiding place. Trooper Davies got into the vehicle and ordered the girl to drive ahead.

'BAD MEN'S' SISTER USED BY POSSE IN HUNT FOR KILLING

Girl Forced to Drive Officer to Hiding Place Where Two Slayers Are Caught.

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Feb. 4.—

Abram Barnes and his younger brother, William, "bad men," came to town last night from their home in the mountains near the Maryland line, filled themselves with liquor and proceeded to terrorize this quiet little place. William Daywalt, a policeman, ordered them to leave, and in a subsequent altercation with Daywalt and the chief of police the brothers opened fire. One bullet killed Daywalt. Another wounded Miss Susan McGrath, a bystander.

The men escaped, but the town was aroused and, headed by Sheriff Walker and Curtis A. Davies, a State policeman, a posse went to their home in the forest. They arrived after midnight and were greeted with a hail of bullets. The posse retreated to Waynesboro and started out again at daylight. The outlaws meanwhile had gone into hiding.

Approaching the Barnes home the man hunters saw Rose Barnes, sister of the boys, driving a buggy in the direction of the hiding place. Trooper Davies got into the vehicle and ordered the girl to drive ahead.

When the team reached the hiding place the Barnes boys ran out. Davies from the buggy leveled his gun at the elder Barnes and ordered him to throw up his hands. Barnes started to run and Davies fired, the lead entering his side. He fell mortally wounded. In the mean time the posse closed in on William Barnes and captured him. The wounded man made a statement admitting killing the policeman.

The re-establishment of the character bureau is thought important, as the Curran Police Investigating Committee developed the fact that several policemen had perjured themselves to get on the civil service list.

Capt. McClintock is forty years old and was born in Milwaukee. He is a son of Emory McClintock, formerly Vice-President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. He studied law at Columbia and the New York Law School and, deciding to enter the diplomatic service, went abroad in 1892.

Year and a Half and Fined $1,000 Each.

CASSIDY MAKES SPEECH IN DEFENSE OF BOSSES.

Go-Between Walter Sentenced to the Island for Three Months and Fined
$1,000—Plan to Fight Verdict.

As a first step in their forward march to the cells in which they must "serve time" for bribery, "Curly Joe" Cassidy, William Willett and Louis T. Walter jr. were this afternoon "mugged" and measured in accordance with the Bertillon system in Police Headquarters, Brooklyn.

This was about two hours after all three of them had been sentenced by Justice Jaycox, Cassidy and Willett—respectively the seller and the buyer of a Supreme Court nomination in 1911—a year and a half in Sing Sing and the payment of a $1,000 fine, and Walter to three months on the island and the payment of a similar fine.

There were twelve other prisoners—sent there from the County Court House—and Cassidy and his fellow convicts had to wait their turn to make their finger-prints and give their measurements for the police records.
